

Balance each equation below and identify which type of reaction is taking place. There are five general types of reactions: combination, decomposition, single replacement, double replacement and combustion.

